

I recently took a new position of Assistant Director for Technical Services at the Jackson Library (main library) of the University of North Carolina Greensboro. This is an advancement for my professional career. I have started the new job last week and am enjoying it very much. The climate in Greensboro, North Carolina is great.

Cecilia and Lynn have worked very hard on the KILR annual program at the Tri-Conference. I am sure that people will like it and I am missing all ILLers.

Before I left Kansas, I sent an e-mail message to Rosanne and also talked to a couple of people of KLA over the phone about my departure. I am missing them a lot. Since I moved to Kansas in 1999, I actively participated in several KLA functions, including chairing the Publications Committee and the KILR, being two times of a member of the Tri-Conference Local Arrangement Committee, and other activities. I thoroughly enjoyed working with everybody on these KLA activities and learend a lot from them

Because I continue staying in the library profession, I am sure that I will see Carol Barta during the ALA Council meetings and will see some of you at other library conferences. Keep in touch. Sha Li

Sha Li Zhang, Ph. D.
Assistant Director for Technical Services
Jackson Library
University of North Carolina Greensboro
P. O. Box 26170
Greensboro, North Carolina 27402-6170
Phone: (336) 334-4705
Fax: (336) 334-5399
E-mail: slzhang@uncg.edu